

Pte speaking section Template

Speaking : Describe image (Maps)

Template:

Introduction (Parichaya - परिचय):

This map displays [the layout of a specific area like a city or park / proposed changes to an area / the geographical distribution of X] in [Location/Region, e.g., central London / the proposed university campus].

Main Body (Mukhya Kura-haru - मुख्य कुराहरु):

- Overall, the most prominent feature visible on the map is [a major landmark, a key zone, a significant planned development, or the general orientation of the area, e.g., a large river flowing from north to south / the concentration of residential buildings in the west].
- Looking at the details, we can identify several key areas; for example, [Specific Feature A, e.g., a large park is situated in the northern part / the main commercial district is located along X street].
- Another notable aspect is [Specific Feature B or a relationship between features, e.g., the university is located to the east of the residential zone / a new road is planned to connect Area A and Area B / if comparing two maps: the previous woodland area has been replaced by a shopping center].

Conclusion (Niskarsha - निष्कर्ष):

In summary, the map provides a clear visual guide to [the key features and layout of Main Topic / the proposed or past developments in the specified area].

Lets see the example

This map displays the geographical distribution of the four official languages spoken in Switzerland..

Overall, the most prominent feature is that the German-speaking region covers the largest area, dominating the central and eastern parts of the country.

Looking at the details, the French-speaking area is concentrated in the western part of the country. Another notable aspect is that the Italian-speaking region is located in the south, while the Romansh language is spoken in a few smaller pockets in the east.

In summary, the map provides a clear visual guide to the distinct linguistic regions of Switzerland.